AND DUST LAID,

Telling Arguments Before Committee-No Action Taken-Will Not be Located on the Green-Other Matters Considered Last Evening.

The dust nulsance was considered at reform in the shape of a communication from the board of health recommending the watering of the city streets. All the members of the committee were present, and there was also a large at tendance of medical men and other citizens interested in this important subject.

Dr. C. A. Lindsley, secretary of the state board of health, was the first speaker of the evening. He said in part: The dust of the city is a menace to the lives of the citizens, and its effect upon the health of the people is of two kinds direct and indirect. The lungs are irritated by the grit which leaves them liable to disease, and the bronchial tubes are also seriously af cted by the flying dust. In the interests of the public health all the streets of the city should be watered and the danger of consumption and kindred diseases thereby much decreased. Dr. M. C. O'Connor, a member of the board of health, said the condition of the dusty streets of our city is a source of much inconvenience and dissatisfaction to our citizens. Permit me to show you gentlemen of the committee that this flying dust is a positive menace to health. Here the doctor produced everal examples of the city's fines dust, which he had gathered and showed it to the committee under a power ful microscope. The dust showed up all jagged, and the doctor continued: 'I believe that the street railroad companies should be compelled to water the roadways from curb to curb. The simple sprinkling between the ralls and two feet on each side is not sufficient, and I think my proposition is nothing more than strictly just."

The watering of the streets was also dvocated by Health Officer Wright, who argued that the expanse could be borne by a general tax on all the

J. Morehead also favored the sprinkling of the streets as a public necessity but claimed that the expense of the same should come out of the general taxes, and that there should be no in creased taxation. The rich, he said, have sprinklers and hose, and some hire the sprinkling done, but it is the poo hat suffer, and I sincerely hope that this committee will recommend som egislation in their interests. L.J. Matthews argued that the street should be sprinkled by the street rail way companies the entire width of the treets at least three times a day. The loctors, said he, tell us that we need fresh air, but along the routes of the lectric cars it is absolutely impossi de to keep our windows up because the cars raise such a cloud of dust. No further franchises should be given to any street rallway company unless they agree to insert a clause compelling om to keep the streets properly wa tered. Prof. William H. Brewer of the Shef. field Scientific school argued that all the streets of the city, and the whole of each street should be watered. This, e said, could be easily done, by dividing the city into districts with a system of graded taxation according to the amount of water used.

Ex-Judge R. S. Pickett said: The fact that all property owners pay taxes to water only a few streets is an injustice. No one should be taxed unless he derives some direct benefit. We have no right to tax anybody for such street sprinkling any more than we have to ompel them to buy ice. If taxes are levied let us all have the benefit of street sprinkling, and not confine it to few fashionable thoroughfares in the center of the city. However, our finandal condition will hardly bear the tax this year.

S. H. Street also favored taxation as to pay for the watering of streets throughout the entire city. City Engineer Kelly reported that the roposed filling of the West river marshes would cost considerable money, and the city could not afford to do it at the present time, so the matter went over. Mayor Hendrick sent a communication to the committee to the effect that he wished to talk with them about the site for a public morgue, and asked them to defer action in the matter until next Tuesday night. In view of this fact the committee decided to take no action on any of the matters consider ed by them until that time, and ad-

COMMITTEE ON ORDINANCES. A special meeting of the committee n ordinances was held last evening for the purpose of considering severa proposed ordinances, at which all the nembers of the committee were present. The first business considered was proposed ordinance regulating presentation of ordinances, petitions, or recommendations, Clerk Lyon appeared before the committee and advocated an ordinance requirng that all such matters should b presented to him by noon of the day on which they were to be considered. The subject was tabled for further consideration. No one appeared to favor the proposed ordinance providing that all charges of misfeasance or malfeasance nies were very fine. compalling the numbering of lamps and drivers of public hacks. Attorney STREETS SHOULD BE SPRINKLED A. McC. Matthewson suggested as an amendment that the proposed ordinance should apply to those drivers and hacks which solicit custom at the public stands. He also claimed that unless such a provision was made the best patronage of some stables would be rulned, and that hacks, etc., used for funerals and weddings should not earth last evening by the members be numbered, nor should the drivers of the committee on retrenchment and be compelled to wear a badge with the word "Hack" and numbers on it. This matter was also tabled for further consideration. No one appeared either to favor or oppose the proposed amendment to section No. 383 of the ordinances of the city of New Haven, to regulate the stopping of electric cars at crossings, and by amending section No. 384 of ordinances by substituting the word "electric" for "horse" in said section, and it was accordingly granted,

COMMITTEE ON SQUARES. The committee on squares also held a meeting to consider the petition of Councilman Joseph H. Uliman for public urinal and closets on the central green. A large number of citizens were present, but only two were in favor of the petition, Council Ullman and W. P. Dickerman. Those who opposed the petition were Major W. Lincoln, Dr. William Hillhouse, C. Graves, Councilman Curtis, ex-Judge ex-Judge Robertson and Dr Beckwith. In executive session the patitioners were given leave to withdraw but the committee voted to recom mend the establishment of a public urinal as near the present site as possi ble, the site to be selected by the board of health and approved by the cour

f common council The petition of H. A. Warner and others for the rearrangement of seats and repairing of walks in Wooster square was also considered, and in executive session it was decided to postoone action on the matter until next Wednesday evening. In the meantime the committee will visit the location and see for themselves what, if any thing, is advisable to be done.

COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS. The committee on claims also held a engthy session last evening and considered the claims of a number of citizens for damages for injuries received by falling on the sidewalks, etc. At the close of the session, however, the nembers of the committee refused t make public what action had been taken until after the report had been made o the court of common council.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS PARADE. Brilliant Time in Waterbury Yesterday

Over Five Hundred Men in Line. Waterbury, May 23 .- The state parade here to-day of the uniform branch of the Knights of Pythias was a brillant success. The parade was reviewed by the mayor and was followed this soon by dinner at the Second regiment armory and a prize drill this afternoon on the West End park. The weather oft nothing to be desired. The streets of the city were crowded all the morning and the scene in front of the city hall and Scovill house which was the general headquarters of the brigade officers, was an animated ne. Bright uniforms and band music ontributed to the general galety.

There were about 500 men in line in the parade. The only divisions in the state not represented were Union division No. 6 of Danbury, and A. H. Fenn No. 15 of Winsted. The order of the procession was as follows: Brigadier General E. O. Shaler of Meri-

LUCKY MEN WHO WERE STAPPED" BY THE SENTORS.

Large Crowd Present to Witness the Tapping-Elections Said to be Satisfactory-An Election Esteemed the Greatest Under graduate Honor.

The annual "tapping" of members of the junior class elected to the senior societies took place at the fence at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

As an election to one of these sociaties is accounted one of the greatest honors of college life attainable by the whole body of undergraduate students, the interest aroused is naturally very great. There is always a great deal of speculation as to whom the lucky students will be. Sometimes the expected happens, and sometimes there are sur-There were a great many more prominent men in '96 than usual, so that it was difficult to predict those who would receive the welcome "tap." The elections are said to be generally satisfactory.

As usual there was a large crowd of undergraduates and their friends pres-

Howland Twombly of Newton, Mass., by G. R. McLane. It was remarked as a very unusual proceeding not to elect the chairman of the board of editors of the Yale Literary Magazine to any senior society. Chauncey W. Wells is the present chairman of the Lit. In one of his articles he opposed sophomore societies, and it is said to be on this account that he is unpopular with society men. Hoyt was tapped for Bones, but refused and was later tapped for Keys. He was entirely overcome with emotion when he refused Bones.

Trudeau refused Keys and went to Bones. Samuel Thorne refused Wolf's Head and went to Bones. Clark's efection to Wolf's Head was unusual, as he was a member of no funior society. He was prominent in the Yale union, a debating organiza-Treadway made Bones In spite of the fact that he belonged to no junior so ciety. He was a member of a freshman secret society, however. Work of Incendiaries.
